New York, Jan. 10 .- The jury which is to decide the question whether or not Harry K. Thaw was guilty of murder when he shot and killed Stanford White Mob in Georgia Avenges on the roof of Madison Square Garden on the night of June 25, 1906, was selected today. The twelfth juror was agreed upon at exactly 5 o'clock, after a day in which eleven provisional jurors were put in the box and six of them knocked out. It took eight days to get the jury for the first trial and five days this time, but the court sessions were much longer. When the twelfth juror had been taken Justice Dowling congratulated the lawyers on the rapid manner in which they had worked.

Justice Dowling had his mind made up that he would get a jury before Monday, and he had ordered a special panel of was not filled. When the jury had been summoned for to-morrow need not ap- of Chester.
